Division of Business Services
Graduating Student Employees

WISCONSIN
UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON

Caitlin Kujawa

Accounting Services, Property Control – Started in November 2017

What is your degree and major?

I am graduating with my Masters of Accountancy. I graduated with my BBA in Accounting in May of 2018. My major was Accounting with an emphasis in taxation.

What are your future plans after graduation?

After graduating I will be moving to Minneapolis to work for KPMG as a Tax Associate.

What is a valuable experience or memory that you will take from your time in Business Services?

During my time at Business Services and Property Control I really learned how big UW-Madison was and how much goes on, on campus and all over the world. There are some really cool projects going on out there that UW-Madison plays a role in, and being able to see that from a business perspective was a great experience.

What advice would you give to younger student employees who are just starting in Business Services?

My advice to younger student employees just starting in Business Services is to find out how their position fits into Business Services and the general bigger picture. Campus and the reach of Business Services is huge, and knowing how what you do fits into it all is interesting and exciting.

Risk Management – Started in June 2018

What is your degree and major?

Masters of Business Administration, Risk Management and Insurance.

What are your future plans after graduation?

Working in the property and casualty insurance sector.

What is a valuable experience or memory that you will take from your time in Business Services?

Hands-on experience with risk retention program and workers compensation claims experience.

What advice would you give to younger student employees who are just starting in Business Services?

Work professionally in the Division of Business Services.

Forest Wu

Risk Management – Started in August 2017

What is your degree and major?

Bachelor of Business Administration, Actuarial Science; Risk Management and Insurance; Computer Science Certificate.

What are your future plans after graduation?

I will be working in Chicago with PwC, as an actuarial associate in Property and Casualty team under the Assurance Department.

What is a valuable experience or memory that you will take from your time in Business Services?

For the first month of me being with the Risk Management team, I learned a lot on how to use Tableau software for graphing data. It turned out to be a very valuable skill, as this was asked in almost all of my interviews.

What advice would you give to younger student employees who are just starting in Business Services?

Don't see this job as just a way of earning some kind of pocket money, but see it as a valuable learning opportunity. Additionally, do not be afraid to speak up and ask for off days because of school work. The people in the division are really nice and understanding.
